Weekly News Review of the Joshua Monument Desert Covering Morongo Valley, Pioneertown, Paradise Valley, Joshua Tree, Sunfair, Indian Cove, Yucca Valley, and Twentynine Palms.

Let's Have Daylight Savings Time!

Joshua commanded the sun to stand still during the battle of Gibeon, so that he could have more light with which to finish the fight. Us Joshuites here in the desert where the sun comes up earlier than the milk man should take a page from old Joshua's battle strategy and get more daylight from the sun. For details read this week's editorial on page two.—M.F.

BANK DEPOSITS

TWENTYNINE PALMS — According to Joseph P. Wasserburger, president of the Joshua Monument National Bank of 29 Palms, depositors are insured on their savings up to the amount of $10,000.00 effective as of Sept. 21st, 1950.

Local citizens are invited to open an account for the new season at 2% interest. Any amount will be accepted on the opening deposit.

Mining Council Sponsors Jr. Hard Rock Miners

YUCCA VALLEY—The Western Mining Council, who holds their annual meeting of miners from all over the Western States in Yucca Valley each spring is forming the character club of a junior miners organization in October. J. P. Hall, publisher of the Western Mining Council Journal, and assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Alec Johnston will organize the charter members.

Purpose of the club will be to create an interest in outdoor activities which stimulate mental as well as physical development of youth—A club designed to acquaint western youth with its natural resources and their development much in the same way as the Four H club operates in agricultural areas. Field trips, mineral and gem collecting, gold panning, will all be a part of the program.

The first meeting is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 7th at 10 a.m. in Yucca Valley at the Community church. A gold panning contest will be held with prizes going to the best panners.

Telephones & Population

As we have already stated in this paper, people from all parts of the U.S are still streaming into California at a great rate. Population growth during the past ten years, as reported by the Bureau of Census, has been substantial, to say the least, in almost every community of our commonwealth, includng our own, and it is a matter of graditude that so many dear hearts and gentle people have chosen this particular section of the great West for their own home town.

The influx of these good folks has had a beneficial effect upon the general welfare of our community and its impact has been felt in virtually every kind of business activity and has been particularly weighty in the field of telephone communication, according to Mr. E. R. Fisher, local manager of the California Water and Telephone Company. Mr. Fisher reports that the increase in the number of telephone subscribers in the 29 Palms-Joshua Tree Exchange is really extraordinary and is indicative of something or other, possibly a trend toward wider communication and therefore better understanding and more neighborly relations among the people of our country.

According to Mr. Fisher, the number of telephone subscribers in the 29 Palms-Joshua Tree exchange has risen from 57 on June 30, 1940 to 399 on June 30, 1950, an increase of 600%

Another indicator of the spread of telephone habits here, Mr. Fisher explained, is the large increase in the number of calls made by regular subscribers. For the first six months of 1950 the people of 29 Palms-Joshua Tree made an average of 1.500 local telephone calls each day, as compared to a daily average of only 200 calls for the first six months of 1940, an increase of 650%. Toll calls pyramided in like fashion. The monthly average of toll calls for the first half of -950 was 2,900 in the first half of 1940 it was 600, an increase of 384%.

J. T. Lodge to Build Recreation Center

JOSHUA TREE—Plans for a twenty by fifty foot swimming pool and recreation court for the Joshua Tree Lodge, owned and operated by the Van Orden's, have been completed. Bids on the slab and swimming pool are under consideration and it is expected that the contract will be let shortly.

The recreation court will be thirty-six by seventy-three feet and will be used for shuffleboard, badminton, ping-pong, quoits and dancing. A patio will be included in the set-up. Additional plans for expansion include ten double motel units on the corner lot.

The dance floor will be open to any local clubs and organizations for dancing and parties free of charge, according to Mr. Van Orden. At present the lodge has a comfortably furnished lounge with pool table, piano, card games and radio for amusement of the guests. There are twelve rooms available at present for rentals.

In 1940, the company's capital investment in 29 Palms-Joshua Tree and surrounding territory amounted to $12,152. Today it is $108,827, an increase in money invested of 795%.

L. A. Getting Evacuation Jitters

JOSHUA TREE—In a recent Los Angeles Times editorial, the author noted that jurisdictional jealousies are handicapping organization of important evacuation plans in event of A-bomb attack. We quote. "Los Angeles has certain handicaps, however. There are far too many jealous jurisdictions in the way of a well-coordinated civilian defense setup for the whole area. There are too many automobiles and too few mountain passes leading away from the city, so that any stampede to escape would create an impossible jam. Four million people are dependent upon water sources hundreds of miles away. We have a relatively large number of Communists in our midst, according to FBI figures, and even larger number of apologists for them.

"California's civilian defense program, and local plans worked out under it, will have these special circumstances to consider. There is no time to lose. One thing is sure: no plan or program for civilian defense will be any better than the people chosen to administer it. This applies to the thousands of volunteer workers as well as full-time officials at the top. They must be more than time servers and busybodies; they must be exceptionally able and selfless citizens. Our very lives may depend on what they do and how quickly they do it."

Both the main source of water supply and an important evacuation route for Los Angeles extend through our area. The proposed Baseline Highway extension from 29 Palms to the Colorado River would be a valuable asset in event of evacuation.

Bouchey's Reopen

YUCCA VALLEY—Tommy Bouchey's Restuarant, famous for its french style cooking and congenial athmosphere, will have its formal fall re-opening Saturday Oct. 7th. Regular opening date was delayed this year because of material shortages involved in remodling the dining room and cocktail bar. The new interior will eliminate the partition that seperated the dining room and bar, which will create a more gregarious athmosphere.

Bouchey's is a member of Gourment's, an association of restaurants that are selected because of their fine foods. Many delicious dishes will be added to this year's menu. A special opening dinner for $1.50 will be served from 6 p.m. Saturday only.

Truman Signs Mining Bill

Washington D. C.–The President signed the Phillips Bill this week authorizing that approximately one third of the Joshua Tree National Monument, in the eastern end, be reopened tomining.

(Full details next week's Journrl).

Crusade for Freedom

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Crusade for Freedom a world-wide patriotic group organizing to combat anti-democratic propaganda, is opening a chapter here this week. Crusade for Freedom, the brain-child of General Lucius Clay, is shooting for ten million members who will each contribute a dollar or less towards building of five powerful radio stations in Western Europe. These stations will be civilian operated by the people of the Western Powers for information to the people of the Eastern Powers under Soviet domination.

A twenty-ton replica of the Bell will be hung in the Freedom Shrine in Berlin, and scrolls with names of all who contribute to Freedom Crusade will be sealed in the base of the tower.

A scroll will be passed this week to be signed by the local members of Freedom Crusade, following which the scroll will be flown to Berlin to be sealed in the shrine.

The Freedom Radio will broadcast information, news and educational programs to the peoples behind the "iron curtain" in many languages, in effect a "spiritual airlift."

Joshua Tree National Monument Road Oiled

(Re-printed from Desert Trail)

The road from Twentynine Palms to Salton View will be closed Monday, Sept. 25 to Friday, Sept. 29, due to oiling of a five-mile section of the road, according to Supt. Frank Givens.

Visitors may drive to Salton View through the town of Joshua Tree. (You just ain't a-kiddin' you can, ANYTIME! —ED).

Deferment for Nat. Guard Enlisted Men

I have received a large amount of letters and telegrams from school officials, parents and others who were interested in getting deferments for enlisted personnel of the California National Guard because of high school enrollment and the desire that the National Guard personnel so involved would have an opportunity to graduate

I took this subject up with Major General C. D. O'Sullivan, The Adjutant General of the State of California National Guard and received a response from him under date of September 5, 1950 which is self-explanatory and for the benefit of those interested I quote:

"Dear Mr. Sheppard:

I have the honor to reply to your letter of 29 August 1950 concerning the present policy of deferments for enlisted men of the California National Guard who are enrolled in High Schools.

On 11 August 1950, the Departbent of the Army teletyped the Commanding General, Sixth Army, who in turn advised this headquarters, that members of civilian components enrolled in educational institutions may be deferred until completion of the current semester. This action has been taken for those men assigned to alerted units and upon their request. Defenments have been issued for High School students as well as those in higher institutions of learning.

Very truly yours,
/s/ C. D. O'SULLIVAN
Major General, CAL NG
The Adjutant General"

Yours Sincerely,
HARRY R. SHEPPARD, M. C.

It Sure Is Early Out!

Just when us desert folk get to enjoying life and begin to feel that we have no one to challenge our independence, along comes Sacramento and changes our time again. Now that sort of stuff is alright for the chickens, since they don't go by the alarm clock, but for us people all this fooling around with the sun just messes us up.

We get our sunlight a couple of hours ahead of Sacramento and it equals about the same for the Los Angeles area when we add the mountain ranges and the morning smog. So you can see what happens to our little red-rimmed eyes long before the alarm clock tells us it is time to get up. Old Sol beats right in without any mercy while we're trying to beat out a few more winks of sleep, all because someone was careless with the boundaries when they made this state.

But the loss of early morning sleep is only part of our trouble with the change in time. While we're still busily earning our bread the sun just plunks out of sight behind those same mountains that keeps L. A. in the dark during our early restless hours. At six p. m. we're in the dark while the governor is still enjoying a bit of daylight fishing from aboard his yacht (if he has a yacht.)

Now seriously, does this make sense, that while all this changing of time is for the purpose of getting full benefit from daylight and saving on power, we on the desert sacrifice our time and electricity to give the "flatlanders" the advantages? Why dont we set our clocks back to give ourselves' more daylight, or better still change our hours. Why not open our places of business at seven o'clock, have lunch at 11 a. m. and close shop at four p. m.? That way we get a full hour and a half of sunlight before and after business hours. By December, on our present schedule, we start turning on the lights before five p. m., yet the sun is up before we are in the a. m.

All this changing of time was for the benefit of the coastal areas and districts further west in the first place. Why should we who are more than a hundred miles further east let ourselves be ruled by laws that are not adaptable to our requirements? We need more daylight at the end of the day while we're still in circulation not before breakfast while we're still in bed.

Right here and now we are starting a campaign to establish a sensible working schedule in the Joshua Monument Desert. Of course we're prejudiced, we have a son that gets up with the sun. However, the rest of us have a population west of here who sets our clocks for us, and we get up when they are ready. We'd like a little response to this idea, except from those who are free to go to bed with the chickens.—M.F.

Lowly Philosophy

By JUNE LeMERT PAXTON

THEY STRIVE IN VAIN

The desert sands have lain for countless years,
Knowing no turmoil, having no fears;
But now the plows of progress come this way,
And desert sands, unwilling, must obey.
Machines move in and scrape the shrubs away,
Leaving sands exposed in stark dismay!

These sands that men so ruthlessly turn loose,
Display in wild resentment their abuse.
They rise in clouds to battle everything,
Like tortured eagle caught with broken wing.
Alas, alas, the sands will strive in vain,
While white men claim them for their own domain!

Greenhorn Gardner

BY RUTH HALE

What a happy day it was when I was able to return to the desert! To be able to see the sun-rise after being in an area where fog and smog were so often present is like a gift from heaven. And how I have improved in this wonderful dry clear air. Right here I wish to thank my friends for the many cards of encouragement, I did so appreciate each and every one.

Hope that your summer garden's successful. Though I wasn't here to see the garden grow, it grew right along, thanks to the watering program which was carried out by one of my neighbors. My friends tell me that my flowers were in blossom all summer.

Now that fall is here, don't let up too much on the watering. Just use common sense about the amount of water. Your small fruit trees will need watering about every ten days and if we happen to have a real "hot spell" you may need to water oftener.

October should be a very busy month for all the old dried up plants should be cleaned out and if they are free of disease, you may put them in the compost pile or pit. It is time to lift the gladioli bulbs and place them in a dry place on the ground long enough for them to be conditioned for winter storage. The perennial plants may be separated at this time and replanted. It is wise to prepare the bed by spadeing up the ground and adding some humus. This is a good time to mulch the trees, using peet moss, steer manure or some of our native growth which will protect the roots of the trees and help hold the moisture.

If you are interested in planting wild flowers, prepare a bed by scratching up the soil to a depth of about two inches, then raking in the seed. Remember that the wild flowers won't respond to watering in the same way that the cultivated seeds do. So after planting the seeds, just forget them and let nature do the rest. If you like blue flowers, try planting the California Bluebell. I had them last year and they were very lovely, and bloomed over quite a long period of time. They should reseed themselves if let to go to seed. Don't become impatient about the seeds not germinating, they may lie dormant for many weeks.

Next week I shall tell you about the bulbs which should be planted in October for early spring flowering. Might not be a bad idea to condition a bed for this planting. Our sandy soil is just right for bulbs but it will need some fertilizer added.

Harvey in HOLLYWOOD

Hi Neighbor: Once again we write from, but this time, not about the Home of Western Movies. . .Pioneertown. We're up here making the last two of the current series of Gene Autry TV pictures, and as usual we love it. Duncan Rencan and Leo Carillo are in town finishing up their series of "Cisco Kid" TVers. . . so if you want to find anyone in Hollywood. . . look in Pioneertown.

By the way, we're working this week with ALLAN HALE, Jr. and his reseamblance to his late and famous father is remarkable. . .even to that wonderful, booming laugh. Given time and the right roles, Allan Hale, Jr. is going to make a name for himself, as well as carry on a great one.

We hear that SPADE COOLY'S face is more than a little on the red side these days. Letters have been pouring into his program complaining about some of the acts he's had on his Saturday nite TV-jamboree. It seems they were a little too "warm" for his auidences which includes thousands of children Why don't you stick to western acts, Spade, everybody loves cowboys.

GOOD NEWS: That swell guy, PAT BUTTRAM, who was seriously hurt here in Pioneertown two weeks ago. . .is going to be all right. But, it's going to be a long pull, and Pat will to be in hospital for several months. If you haven't dropped that get-well card to him already. . . do it now. Address him in care of 29 Palms, Hospital, 29 Palms, California. . PLEASE.

And that seems to be about all we know about Hollywood this week. Up here in the High Desert, we don't get much dirt. (Is that a plug.) So, we'll just go ahead working. . . .IN THE MOVIES, which, as you know . . .ARE BETTER THAN EVER.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TEXT ON UNREALITY OF DEATH

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" This question will be the Sunday Lesson-Sermon subject in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, The Golden Text is from the Psalms: "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord: thy blessing is upon thy people."

It is recorded in The Acts that when the disciples told Peter that Dorcas was dead, he "arose and went with them. When he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber: and all the widows stood by him weeping, . . . But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled down, and prayed; and turning him to the body said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes: and when she saw Peter, she sat up . . . And when he had called the saints and widows, presented her alive."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy writes: "When man gives up his belief in death, he will advance more rapidly towards God, Life, and Love."

"Outward Bound"

By J. W. WRIGHT

When my free spirit has escaped its thrall,
And my still body answers not your call,
Withhold your tears—be only glad with me
That there is peace and sweet tranquility;
And thus rejoicing—some appointed day—
Take me to waving fields where wind-harps play
Among the grass a gentle lullaby
And wild flowers smile back to a smiling sky;
Then go your way unsorrying . . . leave me where
Great trees lift worshipful mute arms in prayer
And rugged hills upraise their crests afar
In age-old greeting to the first dim star.

"... AND THE DESERT SHALL BLOOM FORTH

One of our oldest recorded histories has phopresied that that portion of the earth, the DESERT, so misrepresented by Webster as being devoid of life or vegetation, would one day bloom. Anyone who has flown over the Middle Eastern countries and has seen fertile fields bordering the rivers and oases, next to dry sandy wastes, know the meaning of the old prophecy. Or the transformation of our great Imperial Valley is the best example of this dream come true.

Webster's desert is found only in a few spots on earth. But here in the Joshua Monument Desert, at an elevation of three thousand feet, where cool mountain breezes maintain a tempered climate, we find the most ideal climate in the world, and is without question one of the most fertile deserts known to man.

There is a popular misconception, fostered by out-moded encyclopedias and distorted publicity by coast-wise publications, concerning life and climatic conditions on the desert. The average person envisions it as a hot, dry wasteland. Nothing could be more inaccurate. Do you know that California, coastal cities get eighty-five percent of their water from the DESERT? Do you know that forty-seven percent of all fruits and vegetables raised in California come from the DESERT? Steel, plaster, cement, building rock, oil, insulation, salts, sulphates, cleansers, mineral ores, drugs, herbs, cattle feed, cotten, poultry, nursery bulbs, and grains are just a few of the things that the desert raises in quantity. The Desert a barren place?

Nn the Joshua Monument Desert we have an ideal climate for the raising of decidious fruits, and this is the healthiest climate known for poultry. Locally raised poultry brings two cents per pound more on coastal markets even in spite of extra cartage. This desert is noted for its curative effect on lung and bone ailments, that's why so many people who have come here for their health have found relief.

Don't let the word DESERT, or it's age-old reputation mislead you, for it is a wonderful place. No murky, smoke-filled skies cloud our vision of nearby hills and brilliant stars. Ours is a free clean world. Subterranean waters feed our trees and plants, and some day our desert ,too, will be a garden.

SAY IT BIG!

Story of the week . . . It was a long lazy summer afternoon . . . and two Indians . . . one on each side of a wide valley . . . had struck up a conversation . . . using smoke signals . . . this went on for quite a while . . . and one of the Indians, growing bored with the whole thing, dozed off to sleep, . . . An atomic explosion out in the middle of the valley . . . gazing awestruck at the huge mushroom of smoke . . . rising into the air . . . the Indian shook his head admiringly . . . and murmured . . . "I wish I'd said that"!

For several months we've been saying it big on this promotional page for the JOSHUA MONUMENT DESERT, coolest, cleanest and most livable desert climate in all America. We say it BIG because this is a big new area capable of holding all the people in this and many other states who need a healthful, restful climate. We say it BIG because that's the only way to promote our wonderful climate. In several instances this page has brought results to its sponsors, but more important it has impressed the name JOSHUA MONUMENT DESERT on the consciousness of many new readers.

But now we're going to say it BIGGER. We're not going to publish this page anymore because we have a newer and bigger mdium of publicity, and those who have supported this page will be given the opportunity to help on the BIG one. Next week we'll tell you all about our nw way to bring the name of JOSHUA MONUMENT DESERT to thousands more.

Benefit Dance

YUCCA VALLEY—The Fireman's Benefit ball held last Wednesday at the Community Hall was a success in more ways than one. A crowd of more than one-hundred and fifty attended and enjoyed dancing to the especially "hot" orchestra. Odis Ray assembled all the hot-lick players in the valley including: Sonny Lowe, on the "dog house"; Rusty Orr on the "skins", Vi Ray and Elinor Fairbanks at the ivories, "purty boy" Arch with his geetar 'an singin', Doc, I-caught-aside-winder, Fairbanks beating' the tom-toms and of course Odis with his "talkin" banjo.

According to Clay Tunstall, Fire-Chiey more than a hundred and fifteen dollars was raised.

Letters to Editor

Dear Mr. Ferris:

I was very much interested in your reprint from Desert Trails, Sept. 16th. re the Baseline Highway from 29 Palms to the Colorado, I own property near Lake Gregory in the San Bernardino mountains, and was very much disturbed last week to see a beautiful and very expensive new highway from Lake Gregory to the main highway to Arrowhead. Recently there has been development around Lake Gregory, and several roads built that seemed to have dead ends, this has been explained now that the new highway connects all of them, altho the San Moritz hotel on the lake burned down a couple weeks ago, there is no doubt that a better one will replace it. But the need for a new road is ridiculous, there are already plenty of roads leading out of that area, there are deep cuts that are most expensive, far more so than the type of road needed for 29 Palms, and it serves no emergency for evacuation in case of that need. It would be interesting for you to take a look-see at what we San Bernardino tax payers are paying for. Speaking of selfish interests, maybe we who are interested in Joshua Tree just don't know the right people.

Sincerely,

LOIS FORREST.

KNOW-HOW . . . .
and a world of things

There is probably no business in existence that is made up of more things than the telephone business —the number of different items in a telephone hook-up is really multitudinous.

In the picture you see a handful of gadgets used in a day's work—a pole and crossarm, a glass insulator, a cable spinner and a piece of cable, a truck and a lineman's safety belt, a section of switchboard. And the number of parts in a telephone instrument, or a battery of automatic switches, or an operator's board is simply enormous.

The telephone business is an involved, intricate, complicated aggregation of big and little things, a giant jig saw puzzle which requires plenty of KNOW-HOW to put and keep together. However, in spite of the technical intricacies, and the present high costs of construction, operation and maintenance, telephone service is one of today's biggest bargains.

Milestone in Poultry Feeding

The discovery and isolation of Vitamin B 12 was the third major milestone in poultry nutrition, states Dr. E. I. Robertson, former Cornell Poultry Specialist. He rates the discovery of Vitamin D in the early twenties and the discovery of riboflavin in the early thirties as the other two milestones in poultry nutrition.

Quite a number of good commercial poultrymen strive for three essentials in a pullet four to six months of age or before she begins to lay. First they want a good, clear, bright and snappy eye, indicating vigor. Second, they want the bird to have a plump, compact body such as you find in a Cornish Cross; and third, they want the feathers to lie close to the body and appear to have a sheen or polish. Probably an adequate amount of Vitamin B 12 aids these conditions It has been a common practice in the east for poultry fanciers to run their showbirds in the barnyard on cow manure several weeks before the fairs. Experience has taught them that such a practice improves the vigor of the bird and improves the sheen on the feathers.

Since it was discovered that Vitamin B 12 was present in cow manure and was also prevalent in poultry fertilizer, the question arose whether B 12 was produced in the chicken or whether it developed later by fermentation of the droppings. To clarify this point, Dr. James McGinnis of Washington State College took two lots of fresh droppings. One was then frozen and the other subject to bacterial fermentation at room temperatures for several months. When incorporated in the poultry rations it was proven that the fertilizer at room temperaure had developed Vitamin B 12 and gave a favorable growth response while that maintained in a frozen condition showed no beneficial effect.

Since the discovery and commercial production of Vitamin B 12 by fermentation processes it has been found that there are other additional factors that stimulate growth. These have been termed antibiotics and include aurcomycin, streptomycin and terramycin.

When small quantities of these antibiotics and Vitamin B 12 have been included in the breeders and chick rations, marked improvement in growth and health have been noted. It has proved to be most beneficial in chick and turkey rations to eight weeks of age.

Remarkable growth results have been reported by such uses. From Texas we read reports that fryers which formerly weighed three pounds at twelve weeks of age when fed the old method will weigh three pounds at ten weeks of age when the new ingredients are added to the ration. It is also claimed that it will only take nine pounds of feed instead of the former twelve pounds to produce the three pound fryers.

A local grower using the new ingredients reports that 300 birds at nine weeks and one day old average 2½ pounds each and that it required 2 8 pounds of feed to produce one pound of fryer. Other growers have reported producing ten to twelve week old fryers for 3½ pounds of feed per pound of meat. Good litter management and the use of hormones were credited for the added gains.

The College of Agriculture recently reported. "Extensive trails of antibiotics as feedstuffs are now in progress at experiment stations and commercial laboratories throughout the country. The results of these and future investigations will ultimately resolve the problems. Until more information becomes available, caution should be exercised in using antibiotics in poultry feeds."

NOTES ON THE TURKEY SHOW

SUNFAIR—The Sunday afternoon horse show at the Turkey Fair is going to be a pleasant surprize, according to Gordon Xiques,, Committee chairman for this particular event. Featured will be a square dance on horse back, by the Twentynine Palms riding club. For those who havn't seen supurb display of perfect horsemanship we say don't miss it. It's the only one of it's kind we've ever heard of and it is really good. Several important district and national speakers are scheduled for the Educational Forum. Dick Summers has been rehearsing his "choir" every night at the Cantina for the community singing—this really should be good. Never heard of a beer bottle used as a pitch-pipe before, but-well. . . it could be A-1 (yipe!). (Incidently Dick's wife and baby returned this week. Better rehearse a few lullabys, Dick (we said lullaby, not alibi). Extra copies of the Journal with the Turkey Show adv. are available for those who want them to mail out. Some good things for the turkey Show were planned at the meeting last Wednesday night. The committees are really working hard. Shipping turkeys and planning a show at the same time isn't a picnic.

Cross-Breed Proves Good Bird

SUNFAIR—Experimental work being done with various broad-breasted turkeys at the Charles King Ranch show that the white broad-breasted Holland bird to be the best turkey to be raised in the Sunfair area. A shipment this week of five-hundred white hollands, according to Mr. King, show that this bird is evidently the answer to the desert turkey grower as the ideal bird for a dry climate.

Mr. King says, the shipment of birds from his ranch if placed on the open market in Los Angeles would profit around two dollars per bird. However Mr. King has ordered that these birds be held in storage for the holiday market.

One prime feature of the white broad breasted bird is its ability to withstand heat over the darker birds; they were observed to be out in the sun a great deal more than the bronze turkeys, and were less affected by heat and crowding to get out of the hot summer sun.
